

AFFLUENT SOUTHWEST LIVING

SCOTTSDALE

M A G A Z I N E <sup>TM</sup>

January 2007

THE GOLF LIVING ISSUE

BODY, MIND & SOUL REVIVAL

Southern California's Desert Resorts

HOLIDAY IN LONDON FOR LESS

CITY FOCUS: TEMPE UPRISING

photo by Christian Blok

Seven Canyons • Sedona

Surrounded by the Coconino National Forest, the spectacular landscape of the private destination club, Seven Canyons is in a league of its own and can be summed up simply as “breath-taking.” The property, set amid 200 stunning acres, is highlighted by a par-70 championship course designed by Tom Weiskopf and features 30 private estate homesites, villas, 311 private golf club memberships and a soon-to-come Club Village that will leave nothing to be desired.

Shared-ownership three-bedroom villas are 2,500 square feet; each bedroom boasts a private bath and patio. Admirable details throughout the house include wood ceiling beams and flooring, Venetian plaster walls, heated towel drawers, flat screen TVs throughout the house including the bathrooms, spacious indoor/outdoor living, dining and cooking areas as well as a lavish outdoor shower. Villa shares provide one to three months of residence annually, priced from the mid $400’s.

Private Club Membership is available for $175,000. Existing amenities include the Pro Shop, Club Restaurant, a wellness program headed by Mark Verstegen with Core Performance, tennis courts, a fitness center, and much more to come; construction on the Club Village has just begun.

866.367.8844, sevencanyons.com

photo by Tony Roberts

this page: Seven Canyons